
FLAT FEE COPYRIGHT APPLICATION

FLAT FEE: $350

We offer an affordable Copyright Application flat fee to register our clients' copyrights with the United States Copyright Office. The flat fee includes all legal fees and government filing fees to prepare and file an online copyright application.* In addition, the flat fee includes legal and administrative fees associated with making requisite deposits of the copyrighted work with the Library of Congress.

To be eligible for the key benefits of copyright registration, you must register your copyright before another party uses your copyrighted work without your consent. Otherwise your eligibility for those benefits is forever lost.

A federally registered copyright provides numerous advantages to the copyright owner. The advantages include being eligible, within a court's discretion, for statutory damages ($750-$150,000) and for being reimbursed for your attorney fees to enforce your copyright against a party infringing your copyright. It is important to know that these benefits are unavailable if your work is infringed before you register your copyright.

*The flat-fee listed above apply for basic registration applications filed electronically. Paper applications or non-basic claims, e.g. group contributions or group photographs, will increase the flat fee specified above by the difference in government filing fees.

